

Republican Precinct Committeemen 323

	David M Crane	Annette Nolting
1. What is your name, what office are you running for and why are you running for this position?	No Response Received	My name is Annette Nolting, and I am running for Precinct Committeeman in Precinct 323 because I care deeply about the future of our community. As a mother, I'm committed to helping create a place where families can thrive. I want to ensure my neighbors are heard, informed, and connected, and I'm ready to serve with integrity and dedication.
2. Do you believe that the central committee should endorse candidates in primaries and non-partisan elections? Why or why not?	No Response Received	I believe the central committee's primary role is to inform and engage voters rather than influence outcomes in contested primaries or non-partisan elections. Voters are best served when they can hear directly from candidates and make their own decisions. Focusing on education, outreach, and open forums helps build trust and encourages broader participation.
3. How will you inform the people you represent about the goals and objectives of your central committee?	No Response Received	I believe communication should be accessible and personal. I'll share updates through social media, email, and conversations out in the community. I also want to be available to answer questions and hear feedback, so the people I represent feel informed, heard, and connected.
4. What do you consider the most important qualities in a candidate for local office?	No Response Received	For me, it comes down to integrity, strong communication, and a willingness to listen. The best candidates are those who show up, listen intently, and truly care about the people they represent. They should be committed to doing the work and building trust within the community.
5. Do you believe your values accurately reflect the values of Kootenai County residents? How will you work to incorporate those values into the central committee?	No Response Received	Yes, I believe my values align closely with the people of Kootenai County. As a mom and community member, I care deeply about strong families, personal responsibility, and staying connected as a community. I will bring those values into the central committee by listening, communicating openly, and making sure the people I represent feel heard and included.
6. Becoming a precinct committeeman is the most direct way to influence your local party, shape its priorities and fight for the principles that built this nation. Are you willing to vote for these principles even when they are not popular? Please explain your answer.	No Response Received	Yes, I am willing to vote for the principles I believe in, even when they are not popular. I think leadership means staying true to your values and representing what you know is right for your community and country. As someone who was raised here, I am committed to making decisions based on integrity, responsibility, and the long-term well-being of my neighbors, not just what's convenient or popular in the moment. I will work to uphold the principles that strengthen families, encourage civic engagement, and build a strong, vibrant community.
7. Meaningful change begins in our local elections. As precinct committeemen you serve as a link between the voters and your parties' leadership. What are two or three top priorities that you want to bring to the central committee?	No Response Received	Engaging and informing voters: I want to make it easier for people in my precinct to stay informed about candidates, issues, and opportunities to get involved. Promoting transparency: It's important that the central committee operates openly, so people understand how decisions are made and can trust the process. Strengthening community involvement: I want to encourage more local participation and make sure our precinct has a strong, active voice in party decisions.
8. Are you willing to hold party leaders and candidates accountable to stay focused on principle over compromise? How will you do this?	No Response Received	Absolutely. Leaders should be held accountable to the principles they run on. I will do this by staying actively involved, asking direct and honest questions, and supporting transparency at every level. Voters deserve leaders who are consistent, clear, and willing to stand by their commitments.
