

Republican Precinct Committeemen 411

	Jerry Barlow	Randy Neal
1. What is your name, what office are you running for and why are you running for this position?	No Response Received	I am running for Precinct Committeeman to deliver principled, grassroots conservative leadership rooted in constitutional values, integrity, and servant leadership. I will prioritize transparent communication, actively listen to my neighbors' concerns, and ensure they are championed at the Central Committee level. My intent is to foster open debate, accountability, and strengthen our Republican Party from the ground up. My commitment is to always put Kootenai County families and our shared values first.
2. Do you believe that the central committee should endorse candidates in primaries and non-partisan elections? Why or why not?	No Response Received	Thomas Jefferson once said that the key to a healthy republic is a well informed citizenry. In accordance with this principal, the main priority of the central committee should be to provide transparent candidate information, facilitate open debates and forums, and let Republican voters make an informed choice.
3. How will you inform the people you represent about the goals and objectives of your central committee?	No Response Received	My intention is to inform the people of my neighborhood through direct communication and maximum transparency. Communication will happen in person, through social media, and a newsletter available by email. It is also my intention to be available by phone or direct email.
4. What do you consider the most important qualities in a candidate for local office?	No Response Received	The most important qualities a local republican candidate can have is integrity, principled steadfast conservatism, competency, and sound judgment. Candidates must demonstrate honest character and be a transparent and accountable representative of the people.
5. Do you believe your values accurately reflect the values of Kootenai County residents? How will you work to incorporate those values into the central committee?	No Response Received	Yes, my values accurately reflect the vast majority of Kootenai County residents. They are centered on the people who live here constitutional rights, limited government, support for law enforcement, fiscal responsibility, and protecting what matters most to our families. In the Central Committee, I will incorporate these values by serving as a direct voice for my precinct. I will actively listen to my neighbors' concerns, bring them forward, and advocate for them with integrity and courage. With a proven record of showing up and fighting for our community, I am committed to transparent, accountable representation that puts people first and reflects the will of my neighborhood Republicans.
6. Becoming a precinct committeeman is the most direct way to influence your local party, shape its priorities and fight for the principles that built this nation. Are you willing to vote for these principles even when they are not popular? Please explain your answer.	No Response Received	There is a moral imperative to be a responsible representative and to uphold the founding principles of our nation. True conservative servant leadership means remaining grounded in the enduring values that have made America strong: limited government, individual liberty, constitutional principals, and personal responsibility. It is important to engage respectfully with others, and ensure that decisions reflect both conviction and thoughtful discernment. When principles are tested, that is when they matter most. I am committed to upholding them with courage, while always remaining accountable to the people I serve.
7. Meaningful change begins in our local elections. As precinct committeemen you serve as a link between the voters and your parties' leadership. What are two or three top priorities that you want to bring to the central committee?	No Response Received	My first priority is to strengthen communication between voters and party leadership by listening closely and making sure community concerns are represented and championed. Second, my focus on building trust through greater transparency. People should understand how decisions are made and feel confident the process is open, fair, and accountable. Third, I would keep attention on practical local issues that affect everyday life, like public safety, economic opportunity, and support for small businesses, where local action can make a real difference.

	Jerry Barlow	Randy Neal
8. Are you willing to hold party leaders and candidates accountable to stay focused on principle over compromise? How will you do this?	No Response Received	Accountability and principle is essential to maintaining trust and effective representation. This is accomplished in several key ways. First, I will stay closely connected to voters, ensuring their concerns and priorities are consistently brought into party discussions. Representation should reflect the people. Second, accountability requires transparency. I support clear, open communication about decisions. Third, I will evaluate candidates based on integrity, consistency, and follow through. Finally, when expectations are not met, I believe in asking direct but respectful questions. The goal is accountability that builds trust, keeps leaders grounded in principle, and ensures a continued focus on serving the community.

Watchmen Ministry North Idaho