| 1. What is your name, what office are you running for and why are you running for this position?   | My name is Bjorn Handeen, and I am running for Precinct Committeeman in Precinct 414. I am running because I believe the power of the KCRCC should be used to help build a defense of Western Civilization.   | No Response Received   |
| 2. Do you believe that the central committee should endorse candidates in primaries and non-partisan elections? Why or why not?  | The central committee exists to uphold the party platform and ensure Republican voters have clear, principled choices. When some candidates align with those principles and others do not, voters benefit from transparency.  | No Response Received   |
| 3. How will you inform the people you represent about the goals and objectives of your central committee?  | More people have heard of the KCRCC and stay informed about what we do than ever before. When I started few people even knew there was such a thing. We have built up the KCRCC into something that can't be ignored. The best way to make sure people stay informed about your objectives is to actually have goals and achieve objectives worth staying informed about. The very fact that there are now questionnaires and press coverage about precinct races proves this.   | No Response Received   |
| 4. What do you consider the most important qualities in a candidate for local office?  | There are thinkers, there are talkers, and there are doers. Our society is degenerating before our eyes so I believe we need more doers.  | No Response Received   |
| 5. Do you believe your values accurately reflect the values of Kootenai County residents? How will you work to incorporate those values into the central committee?  | Yes. Kootenai County has a long, documented tradition of anti-globalism and constitutional conservatism, from our 1952 Robert Taft delegation to Ron Rankin's 1996 Pat Buchanan delegation. CdA's own Congressman John Travers Wood stood firmly against globalism and progressivism. That same spirit carried forward in support for Goldwater, Reagan, and Buchanan. It wasn't until the baby boomers came along that the political establishment shifted leftwards. I am working to ensure the central committee returns to our ultraconservative roots by supporting principled rightwing candidates. | No Response Received   |
| 6. Becoming a precinct committeeman is the most direct way to influence your local party, shape its priorities and fight for the principles that built this nation. Are you willing to vote for these principles even when they are not popular? Please explain your answer. | No one has ever accused me of not saying what I think or voting how I feel.   | No Response Received   |
| 7. Meaningful change begins in our local elections. As precinct committeemen you serve as a link between the voters and your parties' leadership. What are two or three top priorities that you want to bring to the central committee?                                      | I believe our central committee is a counterweight to the power of the area establishment who could otherwise buy elections outright. We have to be careful to not BECOME our own establishment: I would like to help develop a county platform that addresses county issues so we can more accurately measure the performance of elected county officials and ensure we root out any pre-conceived bias.   | No Response Received   |

| 8. Are you willing to hold party leaders and candidates accountable to stay focused on principle over compromise? How will you do this? | Accountability means being willing to speak up when something is off track and to support candidates who demonstrate consistency and follow-through. It also means we should not attack the messenger when community members blow the whistle on questionable behavior by candidates and elected officials. I will invite continued engagement by community watchdogs, and I will never be afraid to reverse course when warranted. | No Response Received |
